LECHE DELAYS HIS RESIGNATION DUE TO UNIVERSITY MATTER

LIEUT-GOVERNOR LONG SAYS LECHE TO QUIT LATE MONDAY

BATON ROUGE, La., June 26.—(P)—Lieutenant-Governor Earl K. Long today said he had definite assurances from Governor Richard W. Leche that the governor would step out of office, perhaps before six p. m. today.

Simultaneously, it was learned Dr. James Monroe Smith, sought by police after resigning last night as president of Louisiana State University, was last seen here about 6:30 p. m. yesterday when he was reported to have left his home together with his wife and another couple.

Police last night, armed with search warrants, failed to find Smith at his home, and his daughter told them the four left together in Smith's son's car. He resigned at four p. m. yesterday in a letter he personally presented to Governor Leche at the governor's mansion here.

Long, just before going to the mansion today, said Leche last night in the presence of 25 persons gave "absolute assurances" he would resign as soon as the inquiry into University affairs can be made.

"I understand that could be before six p. m. tonight," Long said. He promised to continue his investigation into University affairs "if and when" he became governor.

Unauthorized Bonds.

Authoritative sources today said the alleged financial irregularities in University affairs referred to by Governor Leche last night involved issuance of unauthorized bonds.

Police were reported to have discovered several mutilated bonds at the University in last night's search.

"It's such a complicated situation, it's almost beyond explanation," one informed person said today.

"As I understand it the University may not lose a penny as the result of the situation," one official said today, declining to elaborate.

There was no clue to the whereabouts of Dr. Smith and his party. Some persons here thought he might have left the state, others thought he soon would surrender to police.

Dr. E. S. Richardson, president of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, called at the mansion this morning to see Leche. He is slated to succeed Smith, according to Leche's statement last night.

Governor Leche had ordered Dr. Smith brought immediately before a special grand jury for investigation of irregularities Leche said tonight total several hundred thousand dollars.

Leche announced Smith's resignation late last night.

Politicians Fall to Comment.

The state's leading politicians all were unavailable for comment today on the University situation.

MRS. J. D. ROBERTS DIED LATE SATURDAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS

FUNERAL FOR POLITICAL AND CLUB LEADER HELD SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. J. Doak Roberts died at the home of her niece, Mrs. Duke Ransom, Saturday night at 8:15 after several weeks' illness. She was a prominent clubwoman and political leader in Dallas for a number of years and formerly resided here.

Funeral rites were conducted here Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Sutherland-McCammon Funeral Chapel and interment was made in Oakwood cemetery. Rev. Gordon MacIntosh, pastor of the Third Avenue Presbyterian Church and Rev. Floyd Fox, pastor of the City Temple church in Dallas, conducted the service.

Surviving are a son, McClellan Doak Roberts, Dallas, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were Morris Lockhart, Sonnie Molloy, Duke Ransom, Joe Wilson, Allyn Lang, Bill Lang, Phillip Todd, and Milton Molloy.

A native Texan, Mrs. Roberts had served as president of the Texas Women's Democratic Association and was a charter member of the Citizens' Charter Association.

Mrs. Roberts' ancestors were from Scotland and came to America in Colonial days. Her parents, residents of Alabama, went to San Antonio, and were landowners before the Civil war. General Sam Houston was one of their close friends.

Mrs. Roberts was reared near Rice. She was married to J. Doak Roberts, now deceased, in 1894.

BRITISH STEAMERS NOT PERMITTED TO UNLOAD AT SWATOW

TIENTSIN SITUATION CONTINUES BE ANGLO-JAP SORE SPOT MONDAY

TOKYO, June 26.—(P)—Domei, Japanese news agency, reported in a dispatch from Swatow that Japanese navy officials forcefully prevented two British steamers from unloading passengers and freight at the South China port today.

The news agency said the vessels upon entering the port received this notification from the supreme commander of Japan's South China fleet:

"Swatow having become a center of fresh military operations, Japanese forces are not in a position to permit vessels to embark and disembark passengers or load or unload freight, with the exception of mail and provisions for foreign residents."

After several hours, Domei said, the two steamers departed. (Japanese naval officials announced at Hongkong yesterday that for the present only shipments of foodstuffs would be permitted to enter Swatow, which the Japanese captured last Wednesday.)

The announcement said also that all third-power ships desiring to enter the port must give 24 hours' notice and that all would be subject to search.

Reports that the two British ships, not immediately identified, had been turned back at Swatow followed another British protest to Tokyo against indignities suffered by Britons in Tientsin, where the British and French

GOVERNOR'S FUTURE PLANS FOR PENSIONS ARE NOT DIVULGED

O'DANIEL TONGUE-LASHED MINORITY BLOCK THAT KILLED TAX LEGISLATION

AUSTIN, June 26.—(P)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel's future plans to finance bigger old age pensions today remained a question mark.

In his regular radio broadcast from the governor's mansion yesterday, O'Daniel caustically tongue-lashed a minority legislative block which, before the legislature adjourned last week, crushed a sales tax constitutional amendment intended to finance an expanded old age assistance program, but remained silent on:

Whether he would take the stump against the 56 representatives who withheld service pressure and killed the amendment he advocated;

Whether he would run for the governorship again next summer.

O'Daniel reiterated intimations he would not call a special session of the legislature to levy statutory taxes for pensions and other social security measures.

He made no mention of a large number of other recommendations the lawmakers buried.

Asserting the action of the 56, whom he did not name, denied the people a vote on the sales-service-natural resource tax resolution and disappointed "thousands of some whom were in 'desperate destitute condition,'" the governor said:

"In my opinion, when the people of Texas are deprived of the opportunity or privilege of voting upon any important problem, I think we have come to a black day in Texas democracy."

Cheers of Rejoicing.

He declared the minority "shouted cheers of rejoicing" on finally defeating the amendment, "folded their share of the $850,000 which the taxpayers must pay for their services, and went home."

The governor stated the fight over pension financing would continue in next summer's elections when the minority might seek re-election.

"And when you are picking your candidates," he said, "remember

RECENT HEAVY RAINS CAUSED MUCH DAMAGE COUNTY ROAD SYSTEM

EVERY PRECINCT SUFFERED AND REPAIRS WILL COST THOUSANDS DOLLARS

Thousands of dollars damage were done in each of the four commissioners road precincts of Navarro county by the torrential rains and attendant overflows and high waters of early last week. A final check-up was not available Monday, the four commissioners reported while in Corsicana, as in some instances in the bottoms they have not had opportunity of closely examining bridge structures.

Each of the four commissioners, however, reported that big bridges at Brady in the northern precinct, at Brady in the northern precinct, at Brady in the northern precinct, and at Brady in the northern precinct, were damaged and were swept downstream and could not be recovered. Some bridges were pushed off the piling, dropped into the streams and lodged a short distance downstream and are to be salvaged, but considerable labor expenditures will be necessary even where the bridges are recovered.

At many sites, abutments were carried away and much dirt work will be necessary before travel can be resumed on the main roads.

Roads Suffered.

Upland roads, too, suffered much washing and other damage, and a great deal of grader and other work will be required to put them back into the previous condition. Many small structures were undermined and washed out.

The various commissioners also fear that a number of the express foundations may have been weakened and will cause repairs later that are not apparent at the present time.

The big Emhouse span over Chambers creek did not give way as was feared. It has been in bad state of repair for many months and many observers had expressed the conviction that another big rise on that channel would cause the span and long approaches to collapse.

A foot bridge on the Grape Creek road was swept away. Commissioner T. P. Hayes reported, while the abutments on the Chambers creek bridge located on the East fifth avenue road from Corsicana were swept away. Many small bridges and culverts in Precinct 1 were swept away.

Commissioner C. M. Fitzgerald of Rice reported five large bridges and about 25 smaller structures definitely gone, while he has been unable to ascertain the number or amount of damage done to various roads crossing Chambers creek, the dividing line between Precincts 1 and 2.

One bridge lost was located on Rush creek on the Powell-Roane road. Another was spanning Hack-

THIRTEEN PERSONS DIED VIOLENTLY IN TEXAS PAST WEEKEND

CAUSED MUCH DAMAGE COUNTY ROAD SYSTEM

At least 13 persons died by violence in Texas last week-end.

C. A. Russell, 52, retired Nacogdoches druggist, was killed in an automobile collision near Galveston in which five persons were injured.

Grady Smith, 22, was killed in an auto-truck collision at Stanton; at Brady the collision of his bicycle and a truck was fatal to Ralph Heitlick, 12; Arthur Stout, 58, retired Montague county business man, was killed when struck by an automobile at Nocona; Johnnie Cline, 21, and Miss Lucille McMillan, 17, of Waco, were killed in an automobile collision, near there.

L. Gaines of Tyler, R. F. D. 2, died the day after his leg was cut off by a train near Toxarkana; Barbara Ruth McCrear, 17-month-old, of Harlandale, drowned in a water trough.

William C. Lang, 51, of Galveston, was found shot to death. Justice of the Peace Fred Hughes called it suicide.

A man identified from a social security card as Wallace Jannings, about 46, of Austin, was found hanging in a tourist camp at Fort Worth. An improvised ether can on his face. Justice of the Peace Frank Hurley, returned a suicide verdict.

Julian F. Fincke, 39, died at San Antonio from burns received when a gasoline in a filling station pump caught fire. J. D. Jackson, 12, of Dallas, drowned in the Trinity river.

Ed L. McDonald, about 52, of Hope, Ark., was killed when his automobile struck a concrete bridge six miles west of Granbury.

SEEK AGREEMENTS ON GOING CONCERN VALUE PIPELINES

PRELIMINARY VALUATIONS SHOW NEAR FIVE MILLION DOLLARS INCREASE

AUSTIN, June 26.—(P)—Comptroller's employees dug through piles of data and conferred with pipe line representatives today in an attempt to reach mutually satisfactory agreements on the "going concern" value of the carriers.

They were engaged in the annual task of determining the intangible asset values of the pipe lines on which state and county ad valorem taxes must be paid, supplementing the tax on physical properties.

Preliminary valuations for tax purposes of intangible assets of Class A and Class B lines are $2,205,564, a gain of about $4,800,000 over last year. Companies disagreeing with the valuations can appeal to the state tax board composed of the comptroller, attorney general and secretary of state.

The comptroller's department reported few hearings had been held because in most instances valuations had been agreed on at informal conferences. The department has taken over the work because the legislature abolished the office of tax commissioner and made Comptroller George H. Sheppard ex-officio tax commissioner.

Certification of valuations, including those of railroads which pay a similar tax, should be completed about August 15. The most last year yielded to counties and the state about $1,200,000.

CONNECTICUT GOVERNOR CLAIMS FEDERAL GOVERNMENT USING PWA SPENDING EXTEND POWERS

MRS. W. H. ABSHER DIED AFTER SHORT ILLNESS SATURDAY

PIONEER RESIDENT OF CORSICANA WAS BURIED ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

ALBANY, N. Y., June 26.—(P)—Asserting the federal government was using public works spending to "extend its powers into the states," Mrs. W. H. Absher, a pioneer resident of Corsicana, died after a short illness Saturday afternoon at the residence, 1737 West Second Avenue, after an hour's illness, and funeral services were held at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist church with interment in Oakwood cemetery. Rev. P. E. Riley, pastor of the church of which she was a member, conducted the rites.

Surviving are two sons, Claude Absher of Corsicana and Arthur L. Absher of Dallas; one daughter, Mrs. Ernest Prince of Corsicana; one brother, Lee Melton of Duncan, Okla.; four sisters, Mrs. Dove Webb of San Francisco, Calif.; Mrs. Aaron Prince of Corsicana, Mrs. Tank Spivey of Belview, and Mrs. John Ammons of Louisiana, and three grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Currie Butler, H. B. Bomar, Festus A. Flippo, Bob Boham, Preston Welch, and T. P. (Pink) Hayes. Honorary pallbearers were members of the First Methodist church and friends of the family.

Corley Funeral Home had charge of the arrangements.

FORMER STUDENTS STATE HOME SCHOOL IN ANNUAL REUNION

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR ENSUING YEAR AT HOME-COMING ON SUNDAY

Herman Parsons, Tyler, was re-elected president; Otis Davenport, Tyler, was re-elected vice-president, and Mrs. D. O. Osburn, Waco, was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the State Orphans Home ex-students' association at its annual homecoming meeting Sunday. The ex-students gathered for a banquet Saturday evening and guests of Superintendent and Mrs. J. Stanford Halley at an open house Sunday afternoon.

Last year the alumni of the Home voted to pay one dollar membership fees to establish a scholarship for a graduate of the Home high school. The association voted Sunday to give the first scholarship to a graduate of the 1940 class.

Superintendent Halley presided at the banquet dinner Saturday night and extended the welcome to the ex-students. The response was made by Herman Parsons, president of the association.

After the dinner had been served, Mr. Halley, on behalf of the Home's official family and employees, welcomed the ex-students. Mr. Parsons gave a fitting response on behalf of the alumni association's members.

Mr. Halley read the names of numerous members who were unable to attend the homecoming but who had sent their regards. He introduced Bob Calvert, former legislator and now a lawyer in Hillsboro, who spoke briefly. He introduced Earl Huddleston, who also made a few remarks. Representatives of the various classes called upon for two minute talks.

Special guests at the banquet were E. E. Sheehy, Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Norwood, Dr. and Mrs. Leslie Kelton, Jr., Dr. R. N. Holway, Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Allison, Mr. J. Stanford Halley, Mr. Huddleston, Mr. Parsons, and Jim Nick Garitty.

After the banquet, the new $45,000 gymnasium was opened with a dance for the ex-students.

GARNER DESCRIBED AS BEING OPPOSED LENDING PROGRAM

VICE PRESIDENT REPORTED 'SHARPLY CRITICAL' SOME PHASES OF PLAN

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(P)—Vice President Garner was described by friends today as "sharply critical" of some phases of President Roosevelt's $3,800,000,000 lending program although they said he does not intend to oppose it actively.

Garner's views were learned while congressional leaders were trying to prevent impending battles over two sections of the program—loans to foreign countries and leasing of railroad equipment.

Because of bi-partisan opposition, administration lieutenants were said to be eager to carry out the program without new legislation.

Clerks were drafting in one bill all the legislative authority which they believe will be necessary. It will be introduced in both senate and house tomorrow, or Wednesday, and will be pushed to the floor after brief committee hearings.

The proposal to let the Export-Import Bank lend $500,000,000 in the next two sections of the program to foreign governments brought criticism in the senate Saturday from Senators Borah (R-Idaho), Taft (R-Ohio) and Lucas (D-Ill.).

Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.) replied that the Export-Import Bank so far has shown a profit and helped finance sales of goods which otherwise could not have been made.

As a result of the criticism, however, the foreign loan project was not mentioned in the bill. Administration leaders are studying the possibility that both these loans and the creation of a new corporation to handle the equipment to American railroads could be carried out under the present RFC lending powers.

Less opposition has appeared to the president's suggestion for expansion of the rural electrification and farm tenancy programs. Some objections have been raised, though, to his proposal for lending $750,000,000 over a four-year period for self-liquidating express roads; toll bridges and city bypasses.

REPUBLICAN DEMAND FOR EXPENSE CUT IS MADE UPON CONGRESS

ADMINISTRATION LEADERS SEEK RUSH RELIEF AND FARM BILLS THROUGH

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(P)—A republican demand for a $500,000,000 cut in federal expenses was received in congress today while administration leaders were trying to rush through new relief and farm funds before the fiscal year ends Friday night.

Rep. Martin (R-Mass.), the house minority leader, completed a bill providing for a 10 per cent reduction in all "properly susceptible" appropriations. He excluded such items as "relief of distressed social security, war veterans benefits, and interest on the public debt."

Estimating congress would authorize expenditure of $13,000,000,000 this year, Martin said in a statement:

"Despite much talk of economy, there has been no action to that end because the administration and its spokesmen in congress have refused to cooperate with the earnest efforts of Republicans and a small group of patriotic Democrats in the house."

A senate appropriations subcommittee hoped to complete revision of the house-approved $1,735,000,000

THREE YOUNG SOCIALITES OF VIRGINIA CHARGED IN ASSAULT AGAINST RUSSIAN COUNT WRITER

WARRENTON, Va., June 26.—(P)—Count Igor Cassini, young

Count Igor Cassini, young aristocrat, was charged today in a Washington newspaper (Times-Herald) said today he was beaten and threatened with emasculation by five or six young men who later taunted and teased him early Sunday morning after a Saturday night dance at the exclusive Warrenton Country Club.

Joint Cassini, whose mother was the daughter of a former Russian ambassador to the United States, swore out warrants for Ivan Montgomery, Colin Montgomery and Alexander Calvert last night, charging they constituted a mob and committed an assault upon him.

Ivan Montgomery and Calvert appeared before Trial Justice B. Richards Glascock this morning for arraignment on the charges. Under term of the Fagulier county grand jury which meets the fourth Monday in September.

Justice Glascock ordered the two young men, both socialites held under bond of $2,500 pending the September court. Both made bond. W. H. Robertson, who appeared as counsel for the pair, waived the hearing and announced that he would waive hearing for Colin Montgomery who he said was in Baltimore.

The trial justice said Colin Montgomery would appear before him next Monday.

The columnist, who said the young men told him they objected to recent items in his column, asserted he was lured outside the club while the dance was in progress.

A friend of the Russian nobleman, Thomas A. F. Krook, son of Arthur Krook, Washington political writer for the New York Times, said Cassini told him he had been threatened with emasculation by

HEART ATTACK FATAL SATURDAY NIGHT TO MISS LIZZIE McELWEE

LIFE-LONG RESIDENT CORSICANA LAID AT REST ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Miss Elizabeth McElwee, life-long resident of Corsicana, died of a heart attack at 9:30 Saturday night and funeral services were held at the Sutherland-McCammon Funeral chapel at 5:30 Sunday afternoon. Rev. C. Duke Payne, pastor of the First Christian church, conducted the rites. Burial was made in Oakwood cemetery.

Surviving were one brother, Tom McElwee, prominent Corsicana bakery operator; and one sister, Miss Ann McElwee, also of Corsicana.

Pallbearers were Dr. A. B. Horn, Wesley Edens, Pat Brown, Jack Roberts, A. B. Douglas, A. Hastings Harrison, Max Almond and Joel C. Trimble.

Sutherland-McCammon Funeral Home had charge of arrangements. "Miss Lizzie," as she was known to many residents of Corsicana, was a quiet, unassuming person, but was beloved by a large circle of friends who had known her through the years she had quietly ministered to the needs of the underprivileged and lived her untroubled but useful life. She will be sorely missed by her family and friends.

SILVER PRICE OF 77.57 CENTS GIVEN APPROVAL MONDAY

PRESIDENT'S AUTHORITY TO DEVALUE THE DOLLAR WIPED OUT

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(P)—The senate approved today a price of 77.57 cents an ounce for domestically-mined silver after voting to wipe out President Roosevelt's authority, to devalue the dollar further.

The treasury now is paying 64.64 cents an ounce for domestically mined silver under provisions of a proclamation which expires June 30.

Action to cut off Mr. Roosevelt's authority to devalue the dollar came on an amendment to eliminate the devaluation power from pending monetary legislation.

The vote was announced as 47 to 33 in favor of the amendment. Administration supporters waged a vigorous fight against the amendment, which was offered by Senator Adams (D-Colo.). The administration group argued the devaluation power was necessary to prevent damage to United States trade if other countries devalued their currency.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(P)—The senate rejected today a proposal to fix the treasury's price for domestically mined silver at $1.16 an ounce. The vote was announced as 52 to 26.

The treasury now is paying 64.64 cents an ounce for the white metal, but a proclamation fixing that rate will expire June 30.

The proposal to fix the rate at $1.16 an ounce was offered by Senator Pittman (D-Nev.), as an amendment to legislation giving the administration's emergency monetary powers for two years. These powers, scheduled to expire June 30, permit the treasury to devalue the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund and pay a bounty price for domestically mined silver. They also authorize the president to devalue the dollar further.

Western senators, seeking an increase in the present silver price have been holding up the bill by lengthy speech-making and have created anxiety among administration followers that the monetary powers may lapse.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the majority leader, said today if the power were not extended the United States would be unable to carry out its part of the tripartite monetary agreement with France and Great Britain.

Although the vote on Pittman's amendment cleared away one major controversy, Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) told reporters "full discussion of the monetary legislation would be continued."

Committees on Capitol Hill went ahead with other work.

Two members of the interstate commerce commission, in support of legislation to prevent railroads to spend their money for any but railroad purposes, except with ICC approval. They said

LOST MONEY IS RETURNED WHEN AD PLACED SUN

"It Pays To Advertise" — and no moment of argument could convince Miss Alice B. Wilson, employee of a Corsicana store, otherwise.

Last Wednesday Miss Wilson lost $52 in currency between her store and a local bank. As a last resort she placed an ad in the Corsicana Daily Sun.

Saturday evening her money was returned to her in a special delivery letter.

Since the finder did not reveal his name, Miss Wilson asked that the Daily Sun express her thanks and appreciation to the person who found and returned the money to her — and again she's convinced advertising pays.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF FROST BURIED ON MONDAY AFTERNOON

Oscar E. Morgan, 82, a native of Louisiana but a resident of Texas for the past 68 years, died at the family residence in Frost, at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and funeral services were held at the Frost Baptist Church at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Rev. D. P. Cagle, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. W. V. Bane, pastor of the Frost Methodist church, conducted the rites.

Mr. Morgan, an uncle of L. C. (Bridge) Morgan of Corsicana, was a charter member of the Mt. Calm Baptist church and had lived in Frost for 50 years. Interment was made in the Mt. Calm cemetery. He was survived by one brother, L. A. Morgan of Frost; and two sisters, Mrs. Lula Etheridge of Frost and Mrs. Clough of Waco.

MRS. ROBERTS

Mr. Roberts was president of the Texas League for many years. After moving to Dallas from Corsicana, Mrs. Roberts became prominent in civic, cultural and other circles. She was an active Democrat and was co-chairman of the Dallas County Democratic Executive Committee in 1928 and 1932. She was president of the Dallas County Democratic Women and in 1935 was a delegate in county and state conventions.

Mrs. Roberts was active in the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, having served as chairman of the committee on higher education and as a member of its state executive board. She twice was elected president of the Dallas Sunshine Club, and in 1932, because of her work, the club was awarded a medal for outstanding service at the international convention in New York. She was a member of the Dallas County relief board, helped to organize a charity day at race tracks and took part in nearly every organization for charitable and benevolent work.

Mrs. Roberts won the W. H. Adamson welfare trophy for the greatest individual service in child welfare without financial reward. The Buddies Chapter of Disabled American Veterans of the World War had presented her with a distinguished service certificate.

She was a member of the board of regents of the Texas State College for Women at Denton and in 1932 represented Texas humane associations at the national convention in San Francisco.

Sutherland-McCammon Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

this—regardless of speeches or alibis, the fact remains that the small minority prevented" passage of the amendment.

"My mail," he continued, "indicated that the citizens are so wrought up over this proposition that they will make sure hereafter in democracy to the extent of submitting important problems to the sovereign voters."

"Goodness knows what will happen to this state between now and the next general session of the legislature. This legislature has left us in worse shape than they found us as far as social security is concerned, because they liberalized pensions and provided no additional money to pay same."

Reads Honor Roll.
The governor read an "honor roll" of 94 representatives who voted for the amendment. He accused some newspapers of heading in democracy to the extent of submitting important problems to the sovereign voters.

"Let me say this battle has not been lost—it has just begun," O'Daniel asserted. "I have stood here and taken it on the chin and taken the blows below the belt. The odds have been against us because the rights of the common citizens of this great state of Texas have been so long neglected and the professional politicians and their henchmen and cohorts have been feasting at the public trough so long that when a true representative of the great masses of common citizens walks into the governor's office to fight for the rights of the common citizen, it's just like waving a red flag in a mad cow's face, and they stare in green envy and turn loose all the volleys of poison and corruption at their disposal."

concessions are under a Japanese blockade.

British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie lodged the protest with Japanese Foreign Minister Hiroshi Arima.

Japanese Refuse Investigate Charge

TIENSIN, June 26.—(P)—A Japanese spokesman declared today Japan had not and would not investigate reports a British couple had been forced by Japanese to disrobe in Tientsin because "in principle such a case could not happen."

British Consul Major G. A. Herbert had charged a British subject and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Finlay, were undressed and searched by Japanese soldiers to cross the Japanese barrier surrounding the blocked British concession here.

Mrs. Finlay was said to have been seen in a deep on only one garment—a girdle—while a Chinese policeman examined her in full view of a Japanese army sentry.

The spokesman acknowledged he had no report from gendarmes at the Racecourse Road barrier where Major Herbert said the incident occurred Saturday.

With the British community shocked by the reported incident, the Japanese apparently were beginning to be concerned by accounts their activities published abroad.

The army spokesman disclosed Japanese Consul-General Shigenori Tashiro had protested to the British Consul-General E. G. Jamieson, against the handling of the case by the Japanese newspaper agencies, which are exaggerating the importance of small incidents, distorting facts and in some cases fabricating so-called acts of indignity against British subjects.

The situation remained unchanged as the blockade entered its 15th day. Begun over a local heading in democracy to the extent of submitting important problems to the sovereign voters.

Milk shortage in the British concession and the Japanese hospital reported no deliveries had been made to it. The municipal market in the neighboring French concession—also within the Japanese—electricity barbed—received no fresh meat. It still was selling surplus stocks from yesterday.

Major Russo-Jap Conflict Feared

MOSCOW, June 26.—(P)—Fears a major conflict between Soviet Russia and Japan are growing in some quarters today by official reports of heavy fighting on the frontier between Outer Mongolia and Manchoukuo.

Soviet citizens warned for the first time last night that border warfare had been raging for more than six weeks. A radio announcement gave the first specific news of the fighting.

The last time Russia and Japan came to grips in the Far East was at Changkufeng, along the Siberia-Manchoukuo-Korea border, last June. Thereafter, the area at issue there, the border that the territory disputed now, the Changkufeng vestpocket conflict caused fears of a major war.

It was settled, however, through diplomatic negotiations which ended in a truce. Both sides gave themselves credit for having achieved peace with victory.

Whether the fighting between Soviet-Mongolian and Japanese-Manchoukuoan forces on the border southeast of Lake Bor would taper off the same way remained to be seen.

Observers here who have seen scores of Far East frontier incidents flare up and fade noted one factor that may help to localize the incident.

The factor is that, technically, Russia and Japan are not fighting. They are striking at each other through states they dominate. These sources said the conflict, therefore, need not spread and may be confined to the area they decide to force a real showdown.

Chamberlain Hopes For Peaceful Outcome

LONDON, June 26.—(P)—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today he had "some reason to hope" discussions now going on in Tokyo would lead to settlement of the Far Eastern crisis.

For that reason, he said, he did not want to make any statement which might "prejudice the prospects of a satisfactory issue of the conversation with the Japanese government."

Chamberlain did say, however, that Britain was insisting that indignities to British nationals in China must cease and that the British ambassador in Japan, Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, had made this clear to the Japanese government.

Reports circulated Britain and Japan already had agreed to open negotiations in Tokyo within 48 hours, but the foreign office would neither confirm nor deny them. These reports said the Japanese had agreed to lift the blockade of the British and French concessions at Tientsin as soon as the negotiations started.

Questioned on the lagging British-French-Soviet Russian negotiations for a mutual assistance pact, the prime minister announced new instructions would be sent shortly to British representatives in the Soviet capital.

He was asked by Laborite Hugh Dalton whether it was not clear that delays in the negotiations were giving Germany satisfaction in Berlin and increasing the risk of new German aggression and a general war in Europe.

"That may be so and I hope it is in the minds of the Soviet government as well," Chamberlain replied.

The foreign affairs committee of the cabinet arranged to meet tonight to draft new instructions to the British diplomats in Moscow and to review the entire Far Eastern situation.

New Source of Friction.
HONGKONG, June 26.—(P)—Wire barricades around British wharves at the Chinese-held Swatow created a possible new source of friction today between Great Britain and Japan in China.

British naval officers said Japanese had begun the barricades around British wharves at Swatow South China port, occupied by the Japanese last week, but there had been no test as yet of their effect.

Foxes Declared Be Killing Turkeys In Blooming Grove Area

Considerable complaint about foxes destroying turkeys in the Blooming Grove sector was reported here Monday morning by Blooming Grove residents.

Ed Carroli reported to have lost 20 young turkeys to the fox invasions the past week.

Foxes are protected by law against being trapped, sold or killed.

LOUISIANA

following conferences that lasted nearly all night at the governor's mansion, from which much of Leche's belongings and furniture already had been moved in anticipation of a possible evacuation.

Smith had for nine years headed the university.

Leche called reporters last night to the executive mansion, heavily guarded by state police, and issued a written statement that Dr. James Monroe Smith, president of Louisiana State University since 1930, had resigned his post and that preliminary examination of the university books showed "financial irregularities which may reach a total of several hundred thousand dollars."

Efforts "to reach him (Smith) for questioning have been unsuccessful," the governor said.

State police, with orders to arrest Dr. Smith at sight, were stationed at railroad stations, highways and airports. Other state police took over the university of the state.

Gov. Leche's statement said a special grand jury investigation of the alleged irregularities would begin immediately and that he had called a meeting of the board of administrators of the university to consider the matter Monday afternoon.

Long Was Surprised
Long, who arrived here last night from the Long family home in Winnfield a short time before the twin announcements, seemed surprised, however, after Governor Leche announced last Wednesday night he intended to quit because of ill health, Long commented "I'm not a governor yet. That man may change his mind tomorrow."

Dr. Smith, 50, a native of Louisiana, and graduate of L. S. U., was made its president in November, 1930, under the administration of the late Huey P. Long.

In a speech at New Orleans last week, Dr. Smith said in the last nine years, during which the enrollment has grown from 2,000 to more than 5,000, approximately $13,500,000 had been spent in construction work at the university.

In the same speech, Smith said: "I am not in politics but I do believe in getting along with a politician. Get him to help you and give him credit for it."

L. S. U. was always close to the state. Long said, and even on his deathbed Huey spoke of the university and the students there whom he had taken on special football excursions on several occasions.

Grand Jury Probe Planned.
NEW ORLEANS, June 26.—(P)—The United States grand jury of the East Louisiana district with headquarters here today decided to conduct its own investigation into charges of irregularities in the WPA in Louisiana.

Federal District Attorney Rene A. Viosca announced the grand jury was scheduled to meet Friday.

He said the grand jury had decided to assume complete control of the case.

The investigation division of the WPA is at present conducting an investigation into the charges and its agents have been examining the books at Louisiana State University. The WPA investigation was ordered from Washington.

Because of lack of Chinese coolies prevented British shippers from attempting to unload.

Japanese naval authorities here said yesterday shipments of foodstuffs only would be permitted in Swatow, that all third power vessels seeking to enter port must give 24 hours notice and that all were subject to search.

The British are the only third-power nationals regularly operating and controlling wharves at Swatow.

ROADS DAMAGE

berry creek between Montfort and Chatfield, while a third large span on Cedar creek near Chatfield was washed out. There are about 30 bridges definitely known to have been washed out, while no official report had been received from that section of the county northwest of Dawson and in the Felhart area near the Navarro-Hill county line where a number of smaller streams empty into Richland creek, included in the larger streams in that area are Ash creek, White Rock creek, and other tributaries.

A 30-foot slough bridge in Richland creek bottoms on the Akers farm was washed out, Commissioner Slaughter said.

Richland creek is the boundary line between Slaughter's and Commissioner Leche's precincts and there is a possibility that a number of slough crossings as well as some of the main creek spans have either been swept away or seriously damaged.

Damage Is Heavy
Commissioner George reported that while a complete check is not available, he has at least 100 bridges of 100-foot dimensions and possibly 100 smaller units, to say nothing of the washed roadbeds over his precinct. He reported heavier damage than did any of the other commissioners. Numerous bridges had been undermined and abutments removed.

One of the larger spans destroyed was the bridge on Wolf creek between Dresden and Raleigh. Post Oak creek near Dresden also lost a bridge. A span crossing Richland creek on the town road northwest of Dawson, belonging to Products 3 and 4, was removed. Another bridge was lost on the old Blooming Grove road crossing little Blar creek while the Martin bridge over Cryer creek between Blooming Grove and Cryer Creek was down following the high water. The Moody church bridge on Rush creek was lost.

Each of the commissioners have bridge crews working at top speed this week in an effort to get open the heaviest roads affected. Before this added work and attendant heavy expenditures was necessitated, the road and bridge fund was barely able to care for the normal demands of the highway department. Whether the budget will be revised and emergency measures adopted, or a reduction in the normal maintenance work be inaugurated to meet the added demands remains to be seen.

Courthouse observers believe, however, that with this increased demand, there may inaugurate a determined campaign for the collection of delinquent taxes, so that additional funds will be available for supplementing the budget without the necessity of attempting to borrow money for the repairs against next year's receipts and revenues.

some financial practices in the past had hurt the state.

Would Double Limit.
Nathan Straus, asking that the United States Housing Authority be permitted to double its $800,000 limit, told the house banking committee that otherwise "a substantial interruption in employment and construction" was sure.

John W. O'Leary of the United States Chamber of Commerce contended before a senate labor subcommittee that the national labor board had been "active in supporting strikes." He said amendments to the labor act were imperative.

Chairman Scrugham (D-Nev.) called a meeting of the house Democratic steering committee for this afternoon to discuss the administration's neutrality bill which is scheduled to come up tomorrow.

Republicans were demanding a $500,000,000 out in federal expenses while administration leaders sought to rush through new relief and farm bills before the end of the fiscal year Friday night.

New Skeet Champion.
STRATFORD, Conn., June 26.—(P)—Little was expected of the Hilltop No. 1 team of Holliston, Mass., when the firing began in the 11th annual Great Eastern Skeet Shot, but that aggregation was the nation's new team champion today with a new meet record to its credit.

The Hilltoppers hit 499 birds out of a possible 500 yesterday at the end of three-day shoot to determine the Roseland, N. J., Community Club, which held the title for the past two years.

CONGRESS EXPECTED TO QUICKLY APPROVE BARTER AGREEMENT

EXCHANGE OF STRATEGIC WAR MATERIALS, COTTON AND RUBBER, PLANNED

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(P)—Administration leaders predicted today that Congress would quickly approve a barter agreement between the United States and Great Britain to exchange strategic war materials as cotton and rubber.

The agreement, signed in London yesterday, provided for exchange of 600,000 bales of surplus American cotton for about 175,000,000 pounds of British rubber.

Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy who negotiated the trade, said in London the same sort of deal was under way between the United States and the Netherlands government. He reported also that Britain was still considering a proposed exchange of tin for United States wheat, but acknowledged this suggestion had encountered many complications.

The Ambassador estimated the agreement would result in exchange of $30,000,000 worth of surplus cotton and receive rubber which otherwise would cost the United States $30,000,000.

The trade, said to be the first of its kind in history, won widespread approval in Capitol Hill, where legislation must be enacted to complete the country's end of the bargain.

The cotton and rubber will be held in storage by both governments "against contingency of a major war emergency," the governments agreed, as a protection to markets of producers of the two commodities, not to dispose of the reserves for seven years except in war emergencies.

Plan Surplus Reduction. Farm administration officials described the proposed barter as one of several measures now in operation or to be put in effect to reduce the nation's huge cotton surplus. The cotton to be traded would be taken from stocks of 11,350,000 bales accumulated by the government as collateral for price-pegging loans made to growers.

The administration hopes soon to inaugurate an export subsidy program under which it expects to place at least 6,000,000 bales of cotton in foreign markets during the next marketing season, compared with about 3,400,000 bales this season.

Officials said that the agreement with Britain must be ratified by the senate, and that both houses must enact legislation giving the government authority to dispose of cotton held above loans.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the house agriculture committee said he was "very happy" that some of the surplus cotton could be disposed of in this way.

From Republican Rep. Hope of Arkansas came the word that he thought it a "good deal." Another Republican, Rep. Andersen of Minnesota, expressed the hope it should increase the price of cotton.

Assailed in Berlin. BERLIN, June 24.—(P)—The deal by which the United States will receive British rubber for American cotton was assailed today by Lokai. zeiger as a "Roosevelt-American" breach of principles. Lokai. zeiger was the only newspaper to comment on the agreement signed yesterday in London.

With an apparent reference to Germany's efforts to make barter arrangements with the United States, it observed: "Washington utters loud cries if the suffering American farmer wants to trade beef and cotton against German goods from which, on the other hand, he would profit. At any other opportunity the ministry (the state) utters thunder against government interference with private business but now it carries out tremendous transactions with taxpayers' money. Such is the meaning in reality of democratic and, especially, of Roosevelt-American loyalty to basic principles."

GRAND JURY MADE FINAL REPORT FOR APRIL TERM COURT

IN SESSION 22 DAYS, PROBERS RETURNED ABOUT TWENTY INDICTMENTS

Final report of the Navarro County grand jury for the April term of the thirteenth Judicial District Court of Texas was presented to Judge Wayne R. Howell Saturday morning.

The grand jurors reported they had been in session 22 days and had examined 307 witnesses and returned about twenty indictments. They recounted they had been especially charged in regard to driving, while intoxicated, and recommended that the county secure some means of determining the actual state of intoxication of the person named in a complaint.

In another portion of the report the grand jury stated they had found a number of persons owing the county money for terracing in varying amounts and recommended the practice of leasing county equipment for this work be discontinued.

They also complimented the various district, county, state, state highway, and local officers for their co-operation during their investigation.

Regarding their inspection of the various county properties, the grand jury recommended repairs to the sheriff's office, the county jail, and at the county farm. They reported the county of F. and S. Hospital in excellent condition. The report was signed by all twelve members of the grand jury.

Two Waco Young People Killed In Auto Collision

WACO, June 24.—(P)—Two persons were killed and four injured today in a head-on collision a mile north of here on the Dallas highway.

The dead: Johnnie Cline, 21, and Miss Lucille McMillan, 17, both of Waco.

Injured were Miss Pauline Mounce and A. O. Moore, Waco; Mrs. Myrtle Fry of Crystal City, sister of Miss McMillan, and W. H. Davis of Waco.

Fort Worth Man Killed. TERRELL, June 24.—(P)—C. E. Dugan, 59, investigator for a Fort Worth Oil Company, died today of injuries received in an automobile accident near Forney Thursday night.

Dugan's headquarters were in Greenville. Survivors include his widow, a daughter, Mrs. D. B. Denning of Greenville, and four sisters.

Retired Business Man Killed. NOCONA, June 24.—(P)—Arthur Stout, 58, retired Montague county business man, was killed when he was struck by an automobile near his home last night.

Stout was leading a pair of mules at the time. The car was driven by Arch McElwee, friend of the dead man.

Survivors include his widow, a son, E. B. Stout, and a daughter, Mrs. Howard Hudgens. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

VICE PRESIDENT IS SEEKING BROADENED INCOME TAX FIELD

WOULD REDUCE EXEMPTIONS AND MAKE LITTLE FELLOW CONSCIOUS OF DEFICIT

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(P)—Vice President Garner is suggesting that congress make drastic reductions in income tax exemptions at the next session, it was reported reliably today.

Garner contends, it was said, that the present $2,500 exemption for married couples should be slashed to $1,200 and that the $1,000 exemption for single persons should be reduced to $500.

In most cases, this would increase the existing tax on married couples with income above $2,500 by $52 a year and the tax on single individuals with income above $1,000 by $20 a year.

The proposal would bring more than 2,000,000 "little fellows" under the federal income tax structure.

Informed persons said the vice-president thinks a broadening of the income tax base would have two important benefits—help narrow the federal operating deficit and make a new group of citizens conscious of the effects of deficit spending.

This consciousness, Garner was said to believe, ultimately would result in pressure on congress to reduce spending and balance the budget.

President Roosevelt also has advocated a broadening of the income tax base. The senate turned down earlier this week a proposal by Senator La Follette (Prog.-Wis.) to reduce existing exemptions to $2,000 for married persons and $800 for single persons.

La Follette told reporters today he did not think exemptions should be reduced below the figures he proposed, because any further cut would be too much of a burden on the lowest income class.

Senator Adams (D-Colo.) commented that "ultimately the income tax base will have to be broadened."

Leaders intend to set up a special joint tax committee to study the entire revenue structure during the congressional recess.

Congressional action on the current provision bill was completed yesterday when the house concurred in senate amendments to the $1,600,000,000 measure and sent it to the White House for the president's signature.

The bill, carrying out some tax recommendations of business, will impose a flat tax of 18 per cent on income of corporations earning more than $25,000, in place of the undistributed profits tax. The new levy is effective on 1940 income.

Plans for a county district girls' softball league have been adopted by the Navarro County Softball Commission, and the schedule has been announced for the week of June 26-July 1 as follows:

Monday, June 26, 8 p. m., Corsicana vs. Richland at Corsicana. Thursday, June 29, 8 p. m., Hubbard vs. Streetman at Hubbard. Saturday, July 1, 8 p. m., Corsicana vs. Streetman at Streetman. Saturday, July 1, 8 p. m., Richland vs. Hubbard at Richland.

CRITICS OF LENDING PROGRAM CENTER ON FOREIGN FEATURE

PROVISION FOR HALF BILLION FOREIGN LOANS MAY BE REJECTED

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(P)—Senator Borah (R-Ia.) contended today the United States should demand that South American nations meet present obligations outstanding in this country before extending them any new credits.

Addressing the senate in opposition to a provision of President Roosevelt's new lending program calling for $500,000,000 in loans to foreign countries, Borah said:

"This may be turning over vast sums of taxpayers' money for South American politicians to play with. That's what has been happening in the past."

Borah said that some of the southern nations had received loans from the government's export-import bank on condition of defaulted loans and bonds be paid, then failed to keep this obligation.

Senator Leader Barkley (D-Ky.) interrupted Borah to say that most of the defaulted South American obligations "were not those of the governments."

Borah and a group of questioners under which authority the export-import bank had made loans to South America.

Barkley replied that these loans had been made to finance purchases of exports from the United States, such as agricultural product and manufactured goods.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(P)—Critics of President Roosevelt's new $500,000,000 lending program centered their opposition today on a provision calling for $500,000,000 in loans to foreign countries.

While several praised the entire program might encounter hard sledding in congress, a good many more expressed opinion the foreign loans would be rejected.

On the other hand, Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic leader, had this to say after a White House conference late yesterday at which cabinet and congressional Democratic chieftains agreed to seek immediate action:

"Most of the program and probably all of it will go through without much difficulty. Some of it will cause debate, but the general feeling is the whole thing will receive the approval of congress."

As to the proposed loans to foreign countries, it is assumed they would go largely to Latin American nations because the Johnson act forbidding advances to war debt defaulters bars credit to most European powers.

Not Self-Liquidating. Saying "the president's program is supposed to be self-liquidating," Senator Taft (R-Ohio) asserted "there is nothing self-liquidating about a foreign loan."

The lending program provides proceeds from the loans would be spent in this country, but Senator Adams (D-Colo.) told reporters "we ought to know by now that we can't buy business."

From Senator Austin (R-Vt.) came a statement that "the American banks are full of money, loans, and if foreign loans are good they probably can get the business."

At the two-hour White House conference late yesterday, 14 executive officials and legislative chiefs went over with the president the entire proposal to authorize federal lending of $500,000,000 over seven years to public and semi-public bodies for construction of "self-liquidating" projects and add $800,000,000 to the United States housing authority's borrowing power for loans and subsidies on low cost housing.

Many Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from Corsicana and other lodges in Navarro county, along with officials and students of the I. O. O. F. Home here, plan to attend the annual convention of the home district I. O. O. F. Rebekahs Association at Waxahachie Wednesday.

The children of the Home will participate in the program Wednesday afternoon.

The Home association is composed of all branches of the order in Navarro, Ellis, Hill, Limestone and Freestone counties.

Mrs. R. M. Whitten of Corsicana is secretary-treasurer of the association, and Paul Moore of Corsicana is a member of the executive committee.

Wednesday's meeting will be the third annual session. It was organized in 1937 at the I. O. O. F. Home here and the 1938 convention was held at Mexico.

Waxahachie Odd Fellows and Rebekahs plan a large attendance on this occasion.

SLIGHT FEELING OF RELIEF IS MINGLED WITH REAL REGRET AT RETURN YARNELL FROM FAR EAST

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(P)—A slight feeling of relief tinged with regret of the state department over return next month of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell from the troubled far east.

The Asiatic fleet commander has been saying "no" to the Japanese in China so firmly for nearly three years the diplomats at times have winced.

Secretary Hull backed him up quickly when he rejected a Japanese warning to evacuate "third power" vessels from the harbor at Swatow, and instead dispatched more American warships to the scene.

However, some professional diplomats, concerned over possible American involvement, thought privately the naval officer might have been less brusque about it.

Since November, 1936, through the turmoil of the undeclared Sino-Japanese war, he has adhered rigidly to the policy he restated in response to the Swatow warning: "The paramount duty of United States naval vessels is protection of American citizens and they will go wherever it is necessary at any time."

To fellow navy officers he is a man who can not be bluff. They contend the Japanese and Chinese admire and respect him for the trait.

Any differences with the diplomats are due, apparently, to his practice of demanding the full measure of treaty rights until orders from Washington direct otherwise.

Admiral Yarnell is coming home in August to await retirement due in October, when he reaches the active service age limit of 64.

Next month he will be relieved by Admiral Thomas C. Hart, until recently president of the general board, who already is en route.

UNCLE SAM WILL CONTINUE HIS 'NUISANCE TAXES' - - AND HERE'S HOW THEY AFFECT MR. PUBLIC

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(P)—Uncle Sam still wants a penny for each gallon of gasoline in your jalopy and 10 cents for each dollar box of face powder you buy.

The levies by which he collects these sums are among the manufacturers' excise taxes or so-called "nuisance" taxes extending for two years in the new tax law.

There aren't as many of these taxes as a few years ago. Gone are levies on bank checks, toothpaste, cigarette lighters, phonograph records, furs and soap.

But when you buy a new radio or television, the treasury will take 10 per cent. It also wants 4 cents per gallon on oil, 5 cents per thousand on fancy wooden matches, and 4 per cent on electricity.

Buying an automobile goes quite a way toward balancing the federal budget. There's a 2 per cent tax on the sales price of the car, 10 per cent on the car radio, 2 1/2 cents per pound on each tire and 4 cents per pound on each tube. An average tire will weigh 20 pounds, making the tax 46 cents. And tubes at 2 pounds each are worth 8 cents each to the treasury.

J. R. LANE BURIED HAMILTON CEMETERY SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Funeral services for J. R. Lane, 67, who died Saturday morning at the family residence on South Twenty-eighth street, were held at Hamilton cemetery at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon where interment was made. Rev. B. E. Byus, pastor of the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church, and Rev. Payne conducted the rites.

Surviving are his wife; five sons, W. G. Lane of Gladewater, J. A. Lane of Blooming Grove, A. M. Lane and C. M. Lane all of Corsicana; one daughter, Mrs. J. E. Baldwin of Richland, and a number of grandchildren.

Mr. Lane had been a resident of Corsicana for many years. Corley Funeral Home had charge of arrangements.

Funds Raised For East Navarro Feeder And Breeder Work

KERENS, June 24.—(Spl.)—Howell, Brister, president of the Navarro County Breeder-Feeder Association, announces approximately $100 monthly has been subscribed by Kerens merchants and business men for the employment of a full time secretary and other expenses necessary. A committee composed of Roy Cloud, Charles Reese and F. L. Hulian obtained the subscriptions.

President Brister points out the primary purpose of the organization as aiding in diversification of farm land usage and the securing of more profitable markets for farm products grown in this section. Among the projects planned is the establishment of a milk and dairy market, small acreage planting of onions, potatoes, fruit trees and other crops.

JAPANESE AGGRESSION

The Japanese government is getting ugly. It starts kicking around its old friends, Britain, France and the United States, and virtually tells them to get out of China.

It is easy to understand why Tokyo imperialists are getting sore at these three democracies. The Japs want to shove us all out and grab and keep China for themselves. They would exploit it under shadow-governments directed by them, or frankly annex it and then look for more Asiatic worlds to conquer. We can'tankerous democracies, bent on preserving our trade rights in the Far East, and also liking the Chinese and distrusting the Japanese, naturally object.

It is doubtful, though, whether any of us would go to war over the present issue. Americans are determined to keep out of war, especially in the Orient, where it would be very costly and difficult. Britain and France cannot afford to run much risk or make a display of power in China while they are so seriously threatened in Europe.

And the Japanese war-makers know that only too well. They work hand-in-glove with Hitler and Mussolini. Now, as before, they strike in Asia while their allies keep the fire hot in Europe.

It makes a troublesome problem for Uncle Sam. We want to save China, and also our own interests and prospects in the Orient, but we are determined not to go to war over them. And Japan is increasingly rash and insolent. Sooner or later we may have to "put up or shut up."

FORCE AGAINST FORCE.

It is reassuring to the world's democracies to find the British government indignantly denying any purpose of returning to "appeasement" of the Munich type. Lord Halifax, foreign secretary, even while continuing to make clear to the world Britain's peaceful purpose, insists that it is determined to meet force with force.

In an era of "power politics," he adds, no threatened country can change its policy of "resistance against force." The leading democracies must be prepared so that "those who use it must count on force being met by force."

Here is a stiff reminder of the slogan with which Woodrow Wilson announced American entrance into the World War in 1917, "force to the uttermost." But force in that period came tardily among the democratic powers, so that the big push of preparation had to be applied after the war was under way. The aggressive powers thus had a great advantage, and almost won. The strategy of the democracies now is to pile up such a convincing array of military power before the war starts that potential aggressors will not dare start it.

In this strategy the United States, while not a party to the present rivalry, and not expecting to become involved, is wisely making its own defensive preparations. And as time passes without overt aggression from the suspected powers, hope grows that the big war which lately seemed imminent may not have to be fought after all.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1937, Edgar A. Guest)

Golfers Are Always Unhappy
I met him in the locker room, his eye with joy a-shine
Said he: "At last I've one it!
Shot the round in seventy-nine!"
A dozen times I've missed it. Till the fear grew deep in me
That the promised land of golf-dom I should never live to see.
But just look the score card over, which I got the boys to sign,
At the eighteenth tee you'll notice I'd a five for seventy-nine."

"That," I said, "is an achievement which you ought to celebrate."
"I missed a putt," he answered, "but I'd had a seventy-eight!"
I was careless with my masher, pitching up to number three
So a seventy-seven is really what the total ought to be.
I rimmed the cup on fourteen and that cost me just one more,
And I missed one shot entirely or I'd had a seventy-four!"
I left him with his fellows, still recounting every shot.
One moment proud and boastful of the splendid score he'd got.
And the next relating sadly (strange, how man's emotions mix)
How that seventy-nine he'd worked for should have been seventy-six.
And I chuckled as I heard him air his sorrow and his pride
For there never was a golfer who was wholly satisfied.

WE LIKE IT WARM.

Congress, while spending billions at home, on what some critics consider foolish projects, refuses to spend thousands on Antarctica. The House appropriations committee has turned down a request for $340,000 to protect what Rear Admiral Byrd says are American rights in the South Polar Continent. Congress as a whole will happily agree, and the public shows no inclination to get excited about it.

There may be natural resources down there which will be accessible and valuable a generation or a century from now. But our people refuse to be interested in them. We have great resources here at home not yet developed or exploited; and while some old forms of wealth are playing out, science is creating new ones.

Our population is no longer growing as it used to. We do not feel the need of more territory, especially territory half a world away and frozen up the year around. We like to be warm and snug. Our people are satisfied to settle down here at home and develop our own extensive slice of the world's wealth, instead of competing with have-not nations in remote and unpleasant regions.

We may be wrong about it—foolish and short-sighted—but that's the way we feel now.

RECOVERY

According to the monthly business review of the Cleveland Trust Company, the more cheerful business sentiment of recent weeks may be attributed to three principal causes. Most important is the growing belief that war is not to come in the near future. The other two are the settlement of the coal mine disputes and the advance in stock prices.

Other pleasant prospects noted in the bulletin are an upturn in steel production, continued activity in building construction, auto sales running ahead of production, booming shipbuilding and airplane production, and signs of liveliness in chemicals and printing.

The principal reason for the continuing depression is given as the reduced flow of new capital into productive industries. That, and a high degree of unemployment, are the serious handicaps to recovery and prosperity. With both problems so clearly recognized, their solution should not be impossible.

While the professional trainers and jockeys are fixing up presidential candidates, it might occur to the people themselves to do some nominating.

We have royalty in this country, too. There's a Queen in every College. But where are the Kings?

"Authoritarian" cruelty must be fought by authoritative decency.

NEWS AGAINST WAR

Americans who have traveled in Europe lately often comment on the calmness of people over there and the anxiety of people here. They complain about our scary headlines and great preoccupation with the prospect of war.

One returned traveler talked to a newspaper man about it with considerable indignation. The latter answered with some straightforward talk that is worth thinking about.

European newspapers, he said, were equally quiet about the imminence of war in 1914. The common people, who had to fight the war, were kept in comparative ignorance of what was going on in those days of dicker and shooting began. Their calm today is that of ignorance and fearful silence.

As for the American newspapers' stress on war possibilities, he said, is it not possible that our concentrated attention has helped to delay a European war which might have broken out at any time in last few years?

The "open covenants openly arrived at," which were President Wilson's hope for avoiding under-cover diplomacy and pre-serving peace, have not been fully achieved. But the great amount of publicity given every move the news sleuths can discover, and the vigorous anti-war sentiment expressed in our newspapers, may have contributed to the hesitation of the war-makers. War scares may have scared off war.

Some of our states are now imitating Old World countries, trying to be "self-contained" and "live at home." It gives people grand emotions but not much of a living.

The new Nazi motto is "Lebensraum," "room to live in." That would be reasonable, if they didn't keep right on looking for more people to find more room for.

These international visits are great for tailors and dressmakers, but they get the rest of us to worrying about whether our duds are "protocol."

Many a deed that is crime when committed by a private citizen is rated as patriotism when committed by a statesman.

Now wouldn't it be nice if the Emperor and Empress of Japan would pay us a friendly visit?

PEACEFUL REALMS.

It was a pretty good speech that King George made in Halifax, just before he and his queen sailed back home. He was bidding farewell to America and commenting on the good fortune and fine example of this peaceful continent.

"From the Atlantic to the Pacific," he said, "and from the tropics to the Arctic, lies a large part of the earth where there is no possibility of war between neighbors, whose policies are wholly dedicated to the pursuits of peace, a pattern to men of how civilized nations should live together."

"It is good to know that such a region exists, for what man can do once he can do again. By God's grace, yours may yet be the example which all the world will follow."

It seems only fair to reply that England itself has been a pretty good peace-maker in the present century. That country fought many little wars in the course of its colonial expansion, but latterly they have been mostly in the nature of police work, ultimately benefiting the native races themselves. As her empire spread, her grip relaxed, until now she holds sway rather by moral influence and mutual interest than by force.

The British Empire has thus been the greatest power for peace in modern times, as the Roman Empire was in ancient times, with this difference—that Britain's yoke has been lighter and her colonies have been less exploited.

REHABILITATION OF FLOOD AND TORNADO VICTIMS UNDER WAY

By the Associated Press
Rehabilitation of Texas flood and tornado victims continued today as the Colorado and Red rivers carried their swollen loads toward the Gulf with no additional major damage forecast.

The National Red Cross' Midwest headquarters at St. Louis added a $750 cash grant to local disaster relief funds to assist 135 families in Mitchell county and 75 in Sour county were being assisted after the Colorado river and two of its tributary creeks flooded and damaged areas at Colorado City and Snyder Tuesday.

Twenty families were affected in the Hookley county twister area. Engineers at Buchanan dam released water from Buchanan near Austin to cars for the approaching Colorado river rise.

E. A. Baugh, state WPA director, announced at San Antonio an appropriation of $5,000 for rehabilitation work in Sour and Colorado City with $5,000 to be spent in each city.

SUPERIOR ICE WINS OVER DR. PEPPER IN ONE-NOTHING GAME

The fast improving Superior Ice team furnished the heretofore clean slate of Dr. Pepper softball team by tallying the only run of the game Thursday night on Magnolia Field. The Dr. Pepper had a 1,000 per cent average in the Y.M.C.A. Navarro County league before last night.

In the second game the Young Business and Professional Men's team completely walked off with the scoring honors as they defeated the Veterans of Foreign Wars 11 to 0. The Veterans threatened several times but were unable to score on the hard fighting business men.

LOCAL TAX PAYMENT IN TEXAS HIGH FOR LAST FISCAL YEAR

AUSTIN, June 23.—(AP)—Texans and non-residents owning property in the state paid $138,980,887 in ad valorem taxes last fiscal year to local governmental units, State Auditor Tom C. King reported today.

The payments reflected an increase of $6,715,385 over the previous year and brought $4,748,440 to counties, $36,886,794 to cities, $4,239,333 to school districts, $8,685,810 to roads, water and other improvement districts, and $18,247,600 to the state. Counties collected the state levy.
Bonded indebtedness of subdivisions was $68,029,445 at year's end, which was accumulated sinking funds of $39,654,860, leaving a net of $28,374,585 of which counties owed 24.1 per cent, cities 35.5 per cent, school districts 19.5 per cent and roads and improvement districts 20.9 per cent. The indebtedness increased $4,907,191 over the previous year.
Assessed county valuations were $4,145,925,416 against an apportioned true value of $7,769,431,727. Average debt for each $100 of assessed valuation was $15.59 compared with an average of $7.38 based on true valuation.

KERENS SOFTBALLERS DEFEATED AMERICAN WELL FRIDAY NIGHT

A large crowd watched the Kerens softball team nose out the American Well, 8 to 0, Friday night on the Magnolia diamond.
The Kerens softballers were scheduled for a double-header and returned to play the Superior Ice team the second game. The Superior Ice, proving its rating among the leaders, trounced the Kerens 10 to 1. Matthews, pitching for Superior Ice, held the invaders to only one run.

FRENCH AND TURKISH MUTUAL ASSISTANCE PACT SIGNED FRIDAY

BELIEVED WILL BE POWERFUL LEVER IN BRINGING RUSSIA INTO LINE

PARIS, June 23.—(P)—France and Turkey signed a mutual assistance agreement today to help each other "in case of an act of aggression which might lead to a war in the Mediterranean."

The reciprocal declaration, signed at the foreign office, followed by a few hours a ceremony at Ankara, the Turkish capital, in which France ceded the Republic of Hatay to Turkey in return for the latter's assistance in the British-French bloc of nations.

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet announced in a separate statement that France does not "in any way" intend to renounce her League of Nations mandatory powers in Syria and Lebanon.

The reciprocal declaration, signed at the foreign office, followed by a few hours a ceremony at Ankara, the Turkish capital, in which France ceded the Republic of Hatay to Turkey in return for the latter's assistance in the British-French bloc of nations.

The mutual assistance declaration, following in almost the same phraseology the British-Turkish agreement announced May 12, predicted that the pact would be a "definite record of long duration carrying reciprocal engagements in the interests of their national security."

The two governments assured the world that this declaration as well as the accord of the future is not directed against any country but has for the purpose to assure France and Turkey reciprocal aid and assistance in a case where they would consider it necessary.

Turkey is a close friend of Soviet Russia. The French-Turkish pact, along with the British-Turkish agreement, erected a triple facade in the Balkans and Eastern Mediterranean as British and French diplomats labored to bring Russia into the League of Nations.

Diplomatic sources said French hopes in the negotiations rose when Soviet Premier and Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov agreed to clarify further Russia's stand.

There were some who showed bitterness and distrust in France's decision to sign away Hatay, a valuable port and a strategic price of Turkish support. If Turkey accepted a territorial plumb in exchange for her co-operation, they reasoned, Russia may have indicated some sort of a price tag in the Moscow negotiations.

The Mediterranean committee headed by Louis Rollin, Paris deputy and former minister of colonies, addressed a protest to Premier Daladier asserting that mountaineers in the Mousadagh region of the ceded land would never submit to Turkish rule.

Official announcement by Turkey of Hatay was set for June 26 and Turkish residents there were planning festivities. Armenian and Arab families were moving out.

Nazis Jibe British. BERLIN, June 23.—(P)—Nazis exulted today over what the press joyfully termed Britain's "loss of prestige in Europe" in lengthy commentary jibing at British foreign policy.

Featuring a Soviet statement that little progress had been made in French-British-Russian negotiations, the German newspaper ridiculed Britain as "kneeling before the gates of Moscow."

Violation of Mandate. ROME, June 23.—(P)—The decision of France to cede Syrian Alexandretta to Turkey was described in a communiqué of Stefano, Italian official news agency, today as a "violation of the mandate entrusted to her by allied and associated powers."

The communist, representing the Soviet government's attitude, pointed out that Italy, one of the allied powers, had a part in establishing the mandate. (France administered the territory under League of Nations mandate. Alexandretta since has become the republic of Hatay.)

Additional Farm Benefits Provide Extensive Program. WASHINGTON, June 23.—(P)—Administration farm officials said today that congressional approval of $438,000,000 in additional farm benefits would provide the most extensive agricultural aid program in the nation's history.

Producers of these crops will be given acreage allotments. Those complying with allotments and observing the department's soil conservation program will get about $25,000,000 in subsidies.

Farmers complying with acreage allotments this year will receive benefits at those rates: Wheat, 28 cents a bushel; cotton 2.5 cents a pound; rice 22 cents a hundred pounds; and corn (in the commercial crop belt) 18 cents a bushel. Next year's rates are expected to be somewhat similar.

Surviving are his wife, one daughter, Bennie; parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Bayless; and other relatives.

Funeral services for C. R. Bayless, 23, who died Friday in the Corcoran hospital, will be held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Corley Funeral Chapel, and interment was made in Campbell cemetery. Bayless had been a life-long resident of Corsicana.

Texas' Criminal Anti-Trust Laws Declared Legal

AUSTIN, June 23.—(P)—In a long awaited decision, the court of criminal appeals today upheld the validity of Texas' criminal anti-trust statutes.

The case was that of Herbert Tigner of Harris county, charged with conspiracy to fix the retail price of beer. Tigner had sought to annul the charge by habeas corpus proceedings.

He claimed the charge could not be maintained because the anti-trust statutes were void due to the exclusion of farmers and stockmen.

Tigner who personally appealed his case before the high tribunal more than a year ago was charged with others with conspiracy to fix the price of beer in Harris county at 15 cents a bottle or two for 25 cents.

With reference to his pleading the anti-trust statutes were void because they did not include agriculture and dairy products while in the hands of the producer, and therefore were repugnant to the fourteenth amendment to the constitution.

The opinion quoted in part from a supreme court decision: "The equal protection clause of the fourteenth amendment x x x does not preclude the states from resorting to classification for the purpose of legislation."

It said in addition: "The principle that a state may classify with reference to an evil which the legislature is well established in the decision of the supreme court of the United States."

FLOOD CONTROL ON COLORADO PROMISED BY LCRA AUTHORITY

ADDITIONAL PREPARATIONS MADE NEAR AUSTIN CARE FOR HIGH WATERS

AUSTIN, June 23.—(P)—Lower Colorado River Authority engineers today stepped up the release of waters from Buchanan Lake to 50,000 gallons per second in anticipation of approaching flood waters from the Upper Colorado river watershed.

The lake was up one foot from yesterday's level and engineers said the crest of the Colorado flood wave would be reached tonight and should course into the lake Monday.

Absence of rainfall in the past three days, except a one-half inch precipitation, Robert Lee Hays, president of the authority, said tonight, augured well for complete control of water through LCRA dams and down the lower stretches of the river.

Mansfield Reassured. WASHINGTON, June 23.—(P)—Reassurance that the Lower Colorado River Authority would operate the Marshall Ford dam to provide ample flood protection for towns and farms on the lower reaches of the Colorado river of Texas have been received by Representative Mansfield (D-Texas), who yesterday visited the general manager of the authority.

A summary of the flood control possibilities of the Marshall Ford dam, now under construction above Austin and the "obligation" of the LCRA to federal and state governments, and to Representative Mansfield personally to operate the dam so that no "just criticism" might be raised regarding its operation was given in a letter the congressman received from McDonough.

The LCRA manager wrote the congressman and his committee chairman in response to the latter's inquiry into the program the authority would allow for flood control storage at the $25,000,000 flood control-hydroelectric project. Mansfield had transmitted in his request to McDonough a letter written by H. C. Copenhaver, secretary and manager of the Wharton Chamber of Commerce, who expressed concern over the LCRA's operation of the Marshall Ford dam.

McDonough expressed regret in his letter that "rumors" were being circulated along the lower reaches of the river that "practically no part" of the Marshall Ford reservoir would be held in reserve for flood protection, adding:

"In view of this situation, we are forced to the conclusion that the reports which are being circulated are coming from sources unfriendly to the authority and are possibly being inspired by those who desire to keep the matter agitated for political or other reasons."

"This is, indeed, an unfortunate situation because the authority is proceeding with a program as recommended by the bureau of reclamation, whose engineers are not interested in power and whom you know to be ultra-conservative in their engineering estimates."

The authority proposes to reserve 804,000 acre feet of normal storage capacity for flood control. McDonough informed Mansfield, and have additional "super flood storage" estimated to be in excess of 300,000 acre feet.

POLITICAL LEADERS LOUISIANA PREDICT QUICK PARTY PURGE

BROTHER OF LATE KINGFISH MUST ACT SWIFTLY TO HOLD MACHINE

WINNFIELD, La., June 23.—(P)—Louisiana political wiseacres today predicted Earl K. Long, who is scheduled to become governor next week, would quickly institute "purge" in the political machine created by his brother, the late Senator Huey P. Long.

Rumor held that Long, now lieutenant governor, would turn on foes within the organization that the same relentless fury that marked the progress of his brother.

Quick work is needed, observers asserted, if Long is to preserve the one-time allright political mansion left by the 'Kingfish' for already several holes have been knocked in the walls by men who were friends of Huey but are not friends of Earl.

Publicly Long gave no indication of his course except that he was determined to be elected to a full four-year term next January. Governor Richard W. Leche, who said he would resign next Monday because of ill health, rested comfortably, conferred with Long, who will automatically succeed him for the 11 remaining months of his term.

Meanwhile, federal authorities went quietly about an investigation of Works Progress Administration activities in Louisiana. The probe was called by J. H. Crutcher, state WPA administrator, who yesterday praised Governor Long for his "deep interest and co-operation" with WPA during his term in office.

"He has never at any time," said Crutcher, "so much as asked me to put single man in the jail although he has at times been deluged with letters. In every case he has referred these letters to me without comment."

Farming Was Never Quite Like This

Meet the Jesse Moultons. They're farmers, but you don't find many like them. Their farm is only one acre and it's set right in the middle of the New York fair. They run the farm in full sight of thousands of people and when the fair closes down for the night, they go to sleep in the shadow of the Perisphere.

MR. MOULTON—shown at the farm's machine for preserving vegetables by quick freezing, does mostly administrative work. Fourteen young men from agricultural schools handle the chores and answer questions.

THIS VIEW—is what Mrs. Moulton sees when she looks up from her reading. Foreground, the Moultons' vegetable patch. Background, the Perisphere. Visitors get a good view of the first floor of the two-story white cottage through huge glass windows in every room.

The house is specially designed as a model, modern farmhouse. There's even an office and bath just off the back terrace where a farmer can do desk work—and change clothes before entering the house proper.

THE HOUSE—gets a lot of attention from groups and the kids like the view. Since the ground floor of the model house is on exhibit the Moultons live in the upstairs rooms, which are private. But visitors are so curious about what's upstairs that they run right up unless the door is kept locked. Moulton says city visitors are coming to the fair to see the model house in on exhibit the Moultons live in the upstairs rooms, which are private. HEALTH, BEAUTY AND POISE

HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR PERSONALITY

ROOF EXERCISE

Many girls living in the city are missing out on the many advantages for exercise which may be taken on the roof of their apartment, or house, or office building.

One can exercise on one's roof.

I know of a particular office where three of the girls don bathing suits and repair to the roof for a round of exercise, then a relaxing sunbath, and then lunch which is frequently sent up to them from a neighborhood restaurant.

The beneficial effects to be derived from the sun are of great value, and since we store Vitamin D in the system, Summer is the time to get as much of this important vitamin from the sun as we possibly can.

Make-shift exercise equipment is fun to plan out—the girl in our picture today is jumping rope with several lengths of electric cord—but of course, you can take your

Or Misleading Tire Ads That Have Been Running In This Good Paper For The Past Week. It Is True That For Any Firm To Run Such a Gyp Sale It Has To Be Classed As A "RACKET"

These are facts. Louis 'Tires' Daniels instead of joining the racketeers and gyping the public, I am going to spend some good 'Doe' and wise the buying public on just what is being done --- "Save 50 per cent—2 Tires for the Price of 1, plus your old tires." That is the ad --- But listen—Here is the 'Racket' and Joker: 2 Cheap Tires for the price of 1 good tire, plus your old tires. Listen Public! That price for cheap tires is higher than I have been receiving for same class of merchandise for several months. Save 50 per cent the ads say. Some say save up to 50 per cent than list former prices (used in 1937). The list price on a 6.00-16 Tire dated Feb. 23, 1939, that is being used for such a sale is only $10.35 and not $15.95 as quoted by the 'Racket.'

When A Bonafide 2 For 1 Sale Comes, If Ever, The Public Can Depend On Louis "Tires" Daniels To Sell And Give As Told.

Some firms claim big tire volume. That was true 5 years ago before I opened in Corsicana. O. K. let them kid themselves (if possible) but better check the good old U. S. Tires on the streets and sleep over the old by-gone slogan.

Now—Any tire firm who denies the past (now exposed) 'Racket' or 'Misleading ads' of save 50 percent may have the next issue of this paper. But remember it is 2 Cheap Tires for the Price of 1 Good Tire which is higher than Louis 'Tires' Daniels charges for Cheap Tires and this firm stands pat in saying

We Sell More High Quality Tires And Never Tell Anything But The Facts.

P. S.—I am waiting for the tire fellows to deny the saving of 50 percent or 2 Tires for the price of 1 tire plus old tires to not be as this is

2 Cheap Tires For The Price Of 1 Good Tire Which Is A Misleading And 'Racket' Like Gyp Of Years Gone By.
